2020

Research Assistant

University of Victoria

Project: Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Resources for Research Plans (scoping review, KMB graphic design, develop intersectional EDI models)

Research Organizers: Office of Research Services

EDI is becoming a central component of all federal Tri-Agency funding. Phase one of this project includes the development of a survey to understand the university's current EDI climate and researchers' needs followed by online focus groups and workshops. Based on collected information, needs-based resources will be created so that researchers can develop fulsome EDI plans in their funding proposals.

Roles:

- Conduct a scoping review of local EDI resources, policies, procedures and strategic plans.
- Share my research and EDI literature reviews I have been conducting for the last six years.
- Contribute to developing intersectionality and EDI models.
- Provide guidance on defining and implementing intersectionality theories and lenses.
- Graphic design of communication materials.
- Collaborate in developing EDI-based resource protocols and tools.

- 2016 Research Assistant Athabasca University
Project: Undocumented Migrant Workers in Alberta: Experiences and Consequences (CBPAR, interviews, focus groups)
Principle Investigator: Dr. Jason Foster, Assistant Professor
Roles: Contacted key advocates and community groups working with undocumented workers; participated in advocacy groups' roundtable meetings; assisted in organizing workshops with advocates to establish research questions and processes; determined ways to find and approach undocumented workers, how to develop relationships between researchers and advocates, and how to utilize grant funding to benefit all project partners; wrote follow-up roundtable and research meeting reports; prepared workshop summary reports for advocacy participants; conducted literature reviews and produced annotated bibliographies
- 2015 Research Assistant University of Alberta
Project: History of the Department of Sociology
Researcher: Dr. Herb Northcott, Professor
Roles: Collected, sorted, and input historical materials; researched publishing options; graphic design and layout of history book

COMMUNICATIONS, MARKETING AND BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

- 2017 – Present Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Consultant
Work with private, public and not-for-profit organizations to develop EDI strategies and plans from an intersectional lens. Educate people on the need to include social class in addressing structural inequality and inequity.
- Summer 2018 Representative Lynne Rienner Publishers
Boulder, Colorado, American Sociological Association 113th Annual Meeting Philadelphia, PA, USA:
August 10 – 14, 2018

Dr. Matt Wray, Temple University, Philadelphia, recommended for this position to help supplement the costs of attending the conference.
- 1998 – 2010 Communications Director/Owner Jam Inc.
Edmonton, AB
Roles: Creative direction, communications, writing, marketing, budgeting, sales, client relations; project management, conference marketing and communications
Results:
- Won graphic design and business development awards for clients' projects
  - Developed a reputation for delivering results that led to referral and repeat international business
  - Generated sales that built and sustained the business
  - Maintained an environment that fostered creativity

- 1992 – 1998    Communications Coordinator    Merit Contractors Association
Edmonton, AB
- Roles: Communications, project management, budgeting, graphic design, writing, organizing events and conferences, developing financial tracking systems
- Results:
- Developed communications and marketing strategies to increase the cost-effective utilization of the membership's benefit plan (80,000 employees and their family members)
  - Branded the Association as a leader in the open shop construction industry
  - Successfully promoted programs and services
  - Respected by the Board of Directors and committees for consistently achieving results
  - Took the lead role in the negotiation of benefit plan administrator and provider contracts to support the membership and their families
  - Developed a marketing and communications plan for the new Employee and Family Assistant Program for construction workers and their families
  - Unprecedented usage of the new employee and family assistance program when mental health was highly stigmatised particularly in the male dominated construction industry
  - Respected for my accounting and financial skills in developing and designing systems to effectively utilize limited resources and balance budgets

ADDRESSING CLASSISM IN CANADIAN UNIVERSITIES AND SOCIETY

INTERNATIONAL COLLABORATIONS

- Present    Code of Conduct for Supporting Poverty- and Working-class Students in Higher Education
Collaborating on a code of conduct for universities in the UK, Australia, USA and Canada to support poverty- and working-class students. Each working group member will take what is developed back to their home countries for consultation. Feedback will be shared with the working group. The document will be finalised and shared with universities. The hope is that this will demonstrate how institutional classism impacts students from marginalised class backgrounds and how higher education how higher education might considering supporting these students to access and transition through their undergraduate degree. This project is being undertaken under the umbrella of the Association of Working-Class Academics.
- 2020–2021    Second International Online Working Class Academics Conference
Co-organize and promote the conference in conjunction with academics from the UK, US, Australia and Canada. The 2021 conference will include a day for Canadian audiences. This will be the first time there is a conference that focuses on social class and higher education in Canada. The entire conference is a celebration of people from poverty- and working-class heritages.

Living in the Margins of Post-Secondary Education interactive exhibit

5 Days of Action, Equity & Human Rights, University of Victoria: November 5 & 8

Event Designer and Organizer: Elaine J Laberge, Shoestring Initiative Founder

Event Description: To understand inequality and inequity, this interactive exhibit provided an opportunity to engage in conversations about the oppressive role of social class. “Living in the Margins of Post-Secondary Education” facilitated space to actively or reflexively participate and reflect on the experiences of students who are living or have lived in poverty. This was an opportunity to learn about students who invisibly continue to exist, grow, and create their own space within the margins of Canadian universities.

- 2020, 2019 Magic Happens When You Learn with a Librarian
University of Victoria Library: Jan 7, 2020 & Oct 22, 2019
Event Designer and Organizer: Elaine J Laberge, Shoestring Initiative founder
Event Description: Pia Russell (MA, BA, UVic Librarian) and Elaine J Laberge designed these special library sessions for UVic and Camosun College “poverty-class” students. Pia covered a wide-range of topics to inform, shape, and guide students’ research, paper writing and overall school work. She guided students in using the library and its many resources. Pia shared why libraries and librarians are essential to learning.
- 2019 New student orientation
University of Victoria: Sep 3 (undergraduate students), Aug 30 (mature, transfer and graduate students)
Baked and handed out 600 double chocolate chip “Dewey” cookies to students, professors, instructors, administrators and support workers to raise awareness of the need for a community of mentorship, support, belonging and advocacy for people at UVic with lived experiences of persistent poverty.
- 2019 Grassroots Picnic on the Quad
University of Victoria: Apr 24, 2019
This was an opportunity to occupy the quad, support folks with lived experiences of poverty and raise awareness.
- 2019 Indigenous Academic & Community Engagement luncheon
Event Description: Was invited to host a lunch with 200+ non-Indigenous and Indigenous students at the First Peoples House located on the Songhees, Esquimalt and WSÁNEC peoples’ sacred territory. Cooked homemade food for Elders, students, professors and staff to connect with non-Indigenous UVic community members. Goals included learning about decolonization, Indigenous ways of being and the Shoestring Initiative. September 25

SOCIAL JUSTICE CAMPAIGNS

2020–Present    Destigmatizing and Educational Poverty campaign (in development)
University of Victoria, Victoria, BC, Canada
Poverty-based discrimination and exclusion remains the most pressing issue in this country. This campaign, which draws on research and lived experiences, makes visible dominant poverty discourses and creates opportunities to engage with the structural reasons for systemic poverty in Canada. Sponsorships will be garnered to ensure that this campaign is accessible.

2012             Dandelion
Department of Theatre, University of Alberta, Edmonton, AB, Canada.
Wrote this play that is an exploration of the effects of generational poverty and class-based inequality on children. This play also explores the role of welfare in shaping “poverty-class” children’s lives.

2011 You Don't Have to be an Actor to Have a Voice in Theatre
Dalhousie University, Halifax, NS, Canada
Developed a community-based marketing campaign to promote theatre to at-risk youth in rural and inner-city areas.

Laberge, E. J. (Writer & Director). (2010, March 12). Cashier confession. Live performance at the Dalhousie Arts Centre, Halifax, NS, Canada.

Wrote and directed this play that explores the experiences of working as a cashier for a Canadian grocery chain to make visible how corporations contribute to persistent and generational poverty of their staff and communities. Second, this play speaks to how public perceptions of low-income, minimum wage grocery store workers translate into mistreatment rather than engaging with structural reasons for community members making a subsistence wage.

Laberge, E. J. (2007). Illusion for the lonely: Culture and connection in neighborhood pubs. Confluence.

This creative non-fiction piece explores what drives the continuous journey of regular day-time patrons to neighborhood pubs. Filled with a compelling need to be the advocate—the voice—for this seemingly eclectic group, I set out on a journey of discovery where the romanticized Cheers-world would be shattered.

EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP DEFINED

The essence of my educational leadership philosophy lies in a relational, community-based way of being where a leader is willing to stand on shaky ground so they can imagine otherwise. That is, I actively seek possibilities and knowledge beyond the world and position I inhabit, with a goal of contributing to shaping socially just and inclusive post-secondary landscapes.

Educational leadership from this framework embodies a coming alongside, not imposing upon, community members. As such, the foundation of my educational leadership philosophy is grounded in decolonizing education and understandings of what constitutes formal and experiential learning. This definition of leadership offers all university members an environment to realize their dreams without erasing their identities. Within this framework of educational leadership, education is by and for community.

COURSE DEVELOPMENT

2016 Social Inequality and Stratification
(3-credit undergraduate level)

This course focuses on social stratification, particularly in Canada, with comparisons to other industrialized countries. This course addresses how stratification has varied throughout history and questions why members of certain groups advance while others do not. This course is designed to delve into, as much as time permits, crippling social inequality problems plaguing Canada and other countries on a global scale. Inequality and stratification are framed within an intersectional lens that seeks to decolonize dominant approaches to exploring these topics. This course focuses on how lived experiences, theories, and forms of knowledge can help us understand the impacts of inequality. Students will have multiple opportunities to engage in diverse ways with, and apply, the course material to their own sociological orientation.
